FALL 2022 | JCU NEWSLETTER

A Lasting Financial Relationship

Jordan Credit Union was my first savings account, which seems unlikely growing up in Idaho. As a small child, my grandma opened a Jordan Credit Union savings account for me. On every birthday, she would deposit a small amount. My grandpa, wanting to instill a strong work ethic, would pay me a dollar an hour to help him with his yard work and other projects. My grandparents wanted me to save the money for something special.

On every visit from Idaho to my grandparents, we would pass by the main JCU office in Sandy, a reminder of my savings. Years passed, and my savings slowly grew, waiting for something special. Then the time came. Like most college students, I had very little money. Not having money was problematic because I wanted to propose and purchase a ring. You guessed it; I used the savings account to buy the ring. She said yes, and we are still happily married.

Little did I know I would eventually be working for the members of JCU alongside other incredible people. My JCU story has come full circle as I open savings accounts for my children hoping they use the money for something special.
